Making life better for those living with chronic kidney disease.

Created as a not-for-profit organization in 1973, Satellite quickly became a pioneer in renal care, conducting clinical research and emphasizing a patient-centered approach to managing chronic kidney disease (CKD) and end-stage renal disease (ESRD). Satellite is best known for its state-of-the-art facilities and best-in-class clinical management practices.

Today, Satellite is a family of services dedicated to advancing kidney care, achieving superior outcomes and promoting improved quality of life for patients. Investing millions of dollars in clinical research, philanthropic activities, community outreach and the development of new companies and services, Satellite has built model organizations united by a common vision to innovate and deliver effective, compassionate renal care.

As a medical industry leader and architect of new approaches to the treatment of kidney disease, Satellite launched WellBound, the first company to deliver comprehensive kidney wellness education along with therapy options and clinical support for the entire spectrum of at-home renal replacement therapies.

In 2014, Satellite launched Satellite Health Plan, a Medicare Advantage Special Needs Plan available to individuals living in Santa Clara County, CA. The plan was designed specifically for those diagnosed with ESRD, to manage their complete health care needs, beyond their dialysis treatments.

Satellite’s medical clinical team generously supports promising researchers at leading academic centers throughout the nation, and the philanthropy division provides nursing scholarships, extramural research grants, financial assistance programs for patients and significant donations to organizations dedicated to assisting the kidney community.

Satellite’s leaders actively participate in associations that set clinical standards and develop regulatory policies for the CKD and ESRD population, and they are powerful advocates for both patients and renal care practitioners.
